

Abstract

The main aim of my diploma thesis, is to analyze attitudes towards the parenting of homosexual individuals and couples, at the students of the Hussite Theological Faculty of Charles University. The first part of my work is focused on definition of the homosexuality, explanation of basic concepts, and summarizing the history of the homosexuality. This diploma thesis gets the reader introduced into the concept of registered partnership. Furthermore, the thesis deals with the attitude of the public towards homosexuality and clarifies the situation of homo-parental families in the Czech Republic. As a main method for this work was used a quantitative one, the data were obtained by a questionnaire survey. As a secondary method were used summaries of other studies related to this topic. At the end of the thesis, the results of the questionnaire survey are evaluated and presented.