

Abstract

Following thesis has a task to analyse free library laws – czech, slovak and polish. Thesis consists of two parts – theoretical and practical. In theoretical part is analysed firstly czech library law. Later slovak and polish library law are analysed. In practical part is firstly explained method – comparative analysis. Further there are formulated a research questions. Sampling and coding with indicators follow. Then method of analysis is solved – in our case comparison, where czech, slovak and polish library law are compared with help of the indicators. Further there are results of interviews with V. Richter and Z. Matušík. In the end there is a brief final summary.