

Summary

The aim of the Bachelor Thesis Media Education at Church School is to compare the Media Education requirements formulated in educational documents of the Czech Republic and the documents of the Catholic Church. The form of the Media Education at Czech schools is described in the Framing Educational Programme that was established after the school reform at the beginning of this century. Quite a lot of attention to the media is being given also by the church, especially in the documents Inter mirifica, Communio et progressio and Aetatis novae. The thesis focuses on the reasons why the Media Education is a component of the Czech educational system and the church documents too. It summarizes the basic Media Education requirements for both of these subjects. Finally, it compares similarities and differences between these requirements.
