

ABSTRACT:

The Jeroným Mine near Čistá is a typical locality of Central European historical mining. Preserved mining areas bearing the signs of the original mining methods are the subject of the monument protection and museum exposition. The mining of tin at the Jeroným Mine, according to preserved sources, dates back to the beginning of the 16th century. The paper summarizes the geological conditions of the wider area of the Slavkov Forest and the context of the Čistá deposit. We will outline the history of mining at the Jeroným Mine and its historical significance.
