

This diploma work is concerned with the subject of the first aid education on high schools. There is described the basic knowledge of laic first aid in the first part of diploma work - the theoretical part. Changes which became in November 2005 are accentuated there. Subsequently there is charted the level of the first aid education on high schoolst in the Czech Republic.

The second - investigative - part is focused on the level of theoretical and practical knowledge of the first aid of high school students with the aid of questionnaire and model situations.