

The bachelor thesis is focused on problem of domestic violence on seniors in the Czech Republic. The aim of thesis is describe and analyze fenomen of domestic violence on seniors, shows reasons, consequences and try to propose some solutions. First chapter is concerned with the definition of senior and ageing. Second chapter deals with domestic violence on seniors, forms, causes and censequences for seniors. Third chapter shows possibilities of prevention and solutions of domestic violence for elder people, especially legislation, action plan and related social services. Fourt chapter describes organization Život 90 and its project, which could be one of the posibility how resolves the domestic violence of seniors. It includes 5 case studies, which concerning domestic violence on seniors. There are presented suggestion for posible solutions of domestic violence on the basis of prevention options in the last chapter.