

Final thesis describes roles of NGOs helping children patients at Czech hospitals. Wider context of modern medicine problems and situation of hospitals in the Czech republic is described for the context. The text contains analysis of literature concerning roles of NGOs in the society. On the basis of theoretical background, the research of roles of NGOs helping children patients at Czech hospitals was conducted and the roles of these organizations are presented.