

The topic of his thesis Comparison of a strategy of vaccination programs in Czech Republic and in France, I chose based on their interest in the issue of vaccination strategies in the country and in Europe. Study at the University of Nantes associated with the practice in local hospitals allowed me to get to know the essence of French vaccination system and its differences and similarities with the system Czech.