

Abstract

The pastoration and maintenance of the christian faith in Romanian Banát's expatriate environment.

This work is researching about the participation of pastoration and popular piety on preservation of christian faith, mainly roman-catholic confession, in Romanian Banát. The work will examine especially the time of colonization from around year 1823 to this time. Main emphasis is focused on the pastoration's influence for the preservation of christian tradition, popular piety, czech language and culture

In theoretical introduction are listed opinions about transmission of faith, pastoration and folk piety. In researching part will sort sources, from which is possible to characterize pastoration, life from faith and culture emphasis in Romanian Banát.