Abstract:

The Diploma thesis “The Parish Budišov u Třebíče in the 2nd Half of the 20th Century” approaches the life of the parish of Budišov u Třebíče between years 1950 and 2000. In context of the political-religious situation, it tries to map out religious life of the parish, introduces all of the church administrators, and watches the relationship between the village and the parish and all the reconstruction work accomplished in mentioned time. The main sources of information are materials from national and diocesan archives and also materials from archives of the security forces. The parish and municipal chronicles are helpful sources too. Also the literature connected with the topic enriches this work and also creates its complexity.
