

Summary

The use of community planning in addressing homelessness, the benefits and impacts on the social inclusion of homeless people.

The bachelor thesis aims to compare approaches within the method of community planning of social services, in addressing the issue of homelessness and social exclusion in selected parts of the capital. The issue of homelessness is a very complex phenomenon, the solution of which requires a comprehensive approach to the social system. services, responsible authorities and, last but not least, the involvement of the local community.