

Abstract

The diploma thesis deals with the analysis of the development of the electoral system for the Chamber of Deputies of the Parliament of the Czech Republic, and especially with the reform of the electoral law that took place in 2021. The aim is to find out whether and to what extent the reform of the electoral law has changed the existing situation in terms of proportionality. Another objective is to apply the individual proposals of the Electoral Law to the results of the elections to the Parliament of the Czech Republic and thus analyse the individual proposals and their potential consequences on the results of the elections from the perspective of proportionality. The result of the work will be an assessment of the individual proposals of the electoral law reform for the Czech Republic.