

In the present work we deal with x-ray microradiography, which studies imaging of objects by x-rays. Objectives of this work was to prepare a few demonstrational biological objects, scan series of transmissions pictures on the pixel detector Medipix 2 and analyse them qualitatively with help of SNR method.