Attempt: 1. resitting

Course of defence: The paper seems to be very complicated as two reviewers assessed it as either non-acceptable or acceptable at the lowest possible level just in the case of excellent defence. Unfortunately, student was not prepared for defence, part of the issues raised by reviewers was answered poorly or not at all, in some cases student probably missed the sense of questions and critical remarks and struggled with explanation of a very basic terminology (what is a "sector", what is an "industrial policy"). Theoretical premises claimed by student were not used at all and instead student offered just a very basic description of the problem which is also responsible for the fact that questions raised were not answered in an adequate way in concluding parts of dissertation. On the top of that the dissertation is written in an unclear, confusing way, editing is very poor. Exam board decided to give a fail (F) and recommended to elaborate on the text and resubmit it again.

Result of defence: fail (F)
