

Abstract

The diploma thesis „Ethical reflection of access of undocumented immigrants to healthcare in the Czech Republic“ deals with ethically relevant aspects of access of undocumented immigrants to healthcare and healthcare system in the Czech Republic. The thesis focuses on healthcare in relation to human rights and on the role of states as a guarantor of human rights.

The diploma thesis will reflect this topic from perspective of human rights and from ethical perspective. The thesis aims to propose measures of legislation scope in area of healthcare as well as immigration politics in the Czech Republic, which should contribute to find ethically responsible and human rights-oriented solution concerning the access of undocumented immigrants to healthcare and healthcare system.

Keywords

migration; undocumented immigrants; human rights; health care; health care system; Czech Republic