

ABSTRACT

The aim of the diploma thesis was to carry out a detailed architectural survey of the homestead Harazim (Rájov, village Zlatá Koruna), which has been registered as a cultural monument since 1958.

The survey proved that the oldest building of the homestead is a granary, dating back to the first quarter of the 17th century. The still noticeable three-part layout of the dwelling dates in its entirety to at least the end of the first third of the 18th century. Both the granary and the dwelling were substantially reconstructed around 1865, when the so-called small building, the knowledge of which became a partial aim of the thesis, was lost.
