

Abstract

This bachelor's thesis deals with analyse of the library fund of annual reports in National pedagogical library and museum of J. A. Komenský in Prague. The teoretical part is pursuing about history of the library, current status, size and organization of the library fund. It also works with number of users and number of loans with the definition of basic terms as: library fund, analyse of library fund, methods of analysing the library fund and its application.

The second part/ the empirical part/ deals/ is dealing/ with practical application of theoretical standards and information which have been found in the actual analyse of library fund, its annual reports and final evaluation of research results.

Keywords

library collection, analysis, annual report, czech schools, libraries, pedagogical library, organization of the library collection, protection of the library collection, acquisition, acquisition policy