

ABSTRACT

Author: Michaela Matušková

Title: Case study of Physiotherapy Treatment of a Periphery Paraparesis of Lower Limbs due to Degenerative changes of Spine

Aims: The aim of this bachelerol thesis is to summarize physiotherapeutic information about the diagnosis of peripheral paraparesis of lower limbs and make the case study about the pacient with this diagnosis.

Methods: The general part is about the information of diagnosis and explanation main terms about the disease and about suitable therapeutic methods, that could be used. The case study consist of kinesiological examination, physiotherapeutic plan and therapy, ten therapeutic units, the final kinesiological examination and effects of therapy.

Results: The physiotherapeutic plan was suitable for pacient and effect of therapy was succesful at the end of therapy.

Keywords: case study, peripheral paraparesis, physiotherapy, lower limbs