

Abstract

The diploma thesis deals with the topic of employment of people after serving a prison sentence in social enterprises. The theoretical part is focused on social entrepreneurship in general, on people after serving a sentence with an emphasis on their situation in the labor market, and on social entrepreneurship with this target group from the perspective of foreign and Czech experience. The empirical part analyzes the approach of social enterprises in the Czech Republic to the employment of people after serving a prison sentence.

Keywords

social economy, social entrepreneurship, social enterprise, persons after serving a prison sentence, employment of persons after serving a prison sentence