Attempt: regular

Course of defence: [in person] The student presented her thesis defence following her argument logic, the topic relevance and then focusing on the most relevant findings and contributions.
Dr Baxa joins online via MS Teams.

[CU board] Dr Franek asks: What the main finding is, and how does it contribute to the challenges of technological innovations?
The student elaborates using the principle of proportionality.
Dr Franek mentions his major concerns, mainly the definition of autonomous weapons systems and what if a different choice of technological warfare could have created a more robust study.
After the student elaborates on the critiques, there are no further questions from the board.
