

ABSTRACT

The bachelor's thesis gets into the functioning of the system of care for the poor through the municipal hospital and the pauper fund, focusing on the environment of the royal mining town Příbram, which is carried out by the municipal government and private charity. The thesis investigates how the poor were provided for and supported, how they integrated into society, what they could afford and where financial support flowed from.

KEY WORDS

social care | paupers | burgher | charity | beggaring | hospital | Příbram