Course of defence: Defence: reviewers propose C/63, C/62 and B/67, average mark is C/63. The main critical remarks aim at a certain uneven balance between the two main topics, more careful work with panel data, literature review rather extensive (should be more focused), and better work with arguments. Student explained mainly the relations between the two research questions (separate agendas and overlaps), also additional questions were answered correctly, however, the paper should have been written better in terms of editing and explaining why certain approaches were chosen. Final grade is B/65.
