Abstract: This bachelor thesis deals with the introduction of two mathemati- cally equivalent algorithms, CGLS and LSQR, which can be viewed as versions of the method of conjugate gradients applied to a system of normal equations. This thesis is devoted to their comparison both from a theoretical point of view (showing the relations between vectors and coefficients) and from a practical point of view (the behaviour of both algorithms in finite precision arithmetic).