

Review of the dissertation supervisor

Name of PhD student: Mgr. Mgr. Lukáš Lev Červinka

Topic: Anti-establishment Parties: Threat to Democracy or Chance for its New Equilibrium?

Date of submission of the thesis: 7 December 2023

Lukáš Lev Červinka's dissertation Anti-establishment Parties: Threat to Democracy or Chance for its New Equilibrium? is based on a rich foreign literature and in original way connects the current topics of constitutional identity and Anti-establishment Parties. The work is a valuable contribution to the scholarship on constitutional identity and political parties. The author's comments on the Czech and Italian constitutional systems are also very valuable. The thesis meets the requirements for a dissertation in terms of its scope and content.

I declare that the parts of Lukáš Lev Červinka's dissertation Anti-establishment Parties: Threat to Democracy or Chance for its New Equilibrium? have been published in the following publications:

- Červinka, Lukáš L. 2023. „Ústavní teorie a teorie komplexity“ in Žák Krzyžanková, K. a kol. Právo a společnost v digitálním věku - Teorie, praxe, empirie. Praha: Auditorium
- Červinka, Lukáš L. 2022. „Establishment as a Structural Coupling Between Constitutional and Popular Identity“. Academic poster at the SLSA York 2022 conference.
- Červinka, Lukáš L. 2021. „The Czech Constitutional Court, the Unconstitutionality of the Electoral Legislation, and the Possible Constitutional Deadlock“. DPCE Online 47 (2): 2733-50
- Červinka, Lukáš L. 2020. „Ústavní imperativ regulace kritického množství kapitálu“ in Wintr, Jan; Antoš, Marek (eds.). Ústavní mantinely pro státní politiku. Praha: Leges

The dissertation thus contains original, substantial and valuable scholarship on an important topic. The thesis is well structured and written in a clear and comprehensible language. The literature and case law are duly cited; the thesis has the prescribed scope, and thus does not show any formal defects. I recommend the thesis for defense before the dissertation committee.

Brno, 22 February 2024

Prof. JUDr. PhDr. Jan Wintr, Ph.D.