

Abstract

This bachelor thesis is divided in two parts. The practical part is a TV documentary The way to the professional ice hockey: Hard work, patience, and luck, which represents way from the beginning to the professional ice hockey career by story of Ondřej Rohlík, forward of HC Dynamo Pardubice. Documentary shows demandingness this way from the player's point of view, his dedicated time and hard work as well as the important role of parents, who have to sacrifice themselves for the career of their child. The theoretical part underpins TV documentary, defines basic concepts and the processing of the documentary, also describes the basics of audiovisual production. The theoretical part also deals with the position of Ice hockey in the Czech Republic in terms of popularity, both passive, i.e. for spectators, and active in the form of the number of active players. It also describes career of Ondřej Rohlík and his club HC Dynamo Pardubice.
