Course of the examination: The Defense Committee Chair welcomed present committee members and all participants. The Defense Committee Chair initiated the defense by verbal statements confirming (i) that a satisfactory number of Defense Committee Members were present, (ii) that the student fulfilled all the requirements as listed in the Study and Examination Code of Charles University.

The Defense Committee Chair introduced all committee members and asked Ali Elminejad to present his dissertation thesis. Ali Elminejad shortly described the main findings of the dissertation. Afterwards, Ali Elminejad focused on the 2nd chapter called "Estimating Relative Risk Aversion from the Euler Equation" in more detail. After reading the referees' (appointed by the Graduation Council) comments, an open discussion followed. During the discussion, Ali Elminejad satisfactorily answered all the questions from the audience. During the Defense Committee voting, Ali Elminejad and the audience left the online room, and then committee members voted.

Question: The exploration of heterogeneity could be commented on more.

Answer: This will be considered for further research. The committee members were satisfied with the answer.

Question: Is it possible to explain why the last method of nonlinear approach in the table has much smaller coefficients compared to other methods?

Answer: Taking a simple average or use other averaging methods may be beneficial.

The committee members were satisfied with the answer.
