

It is a search type thesis. The work deals with malaria as one of the most global infectious diseases. The aim is to obtain a summary of findings based on atkuálních publications on the topic of malaria. I will focus mainly on the issue of imported malaria in the Czech Republic, the modern trend of malaria in travelers, treatment and prophylaxis of malaria antimalika and with regard to the possibilities in the Czech Republic.