

Annotation

The subject of this bachelor thesis is secularism in French education, specifically the process of secularization in schools, the political decisions and opinions of the current political parties in France that influence this process and the overall media image of this issue. In this thesis, I will discuss concepts such as laïcité and priority education in French education (REP and REP+ programs). The aim of this thesis is to examine the process of secularization and the principle of laïcité in French education public opinion and also to look at how this issue is presented to society by the media and politicians.

Keywords

education system, laïcité, France, secularism, public opinion, priority education, religion