Attempt:	Venue of defence: Praha regular
Course of the examination:	[in person] The student presented the thesis defence, beginning with the topic relevance, research questions, and methodological choices. Based on the reviewer's comments, the student emphasised the data collection analysis methods used. The student followed with how the theoretical anchoring relates to the findings. Dr Franěk [Board] asks the student to elaborate on the relationship between the Georgian ruling party and the Russian influence based on the study. The student elaborates on the question and continues with her positionality, given the reviewer's comments. Dr Hájek [Board] asks the student to elaborate on the methodological choices behind the interviews since one of the appendices does not provide detailed information on the data collection process. The student elaborates on the formal aspects of the interviews, but Dr Hájek highlights that the methodology should include the choices regarding the type of interviews (open, semi-structured, etc.). Dr Doležalová [Board] asks the student to provide more details on the discourse analysis phase. The student explains the resources used and the process behind the analytical process. No further questions from the board.
