

Abstract

In the bachelor's thesis „Humor and satire in the Humor Sheets from 1858 to the establishment of the Czechoslovak Republic“ I deal with the origin, characteristics and history of caricature in the theoretical part. Satire became a prerequisite for the emergence of humorous magazines in the middle of the 19th century. „Humor Sheets“ were published from 1858 by J. R. Vilímek senior and were published intermittently until 1941. At that time, it was a unique title of Czech humorous and satirical periodicals. J. R. Vilímek left the publishing of the magazine to his son, J. R. Vilímek junior in 1907.

I focus on the authors who wrote contributions to „Humor Sheets“. In the practical part of the bachelor's thesis, I concentrate on specially focused issues of some years. For example year of the magazine 51, number 48 called „From the Animal Kingdom“ or number 49 dedicated to the National Theater for its 25th anniversary, or number 28 dedicated to the Sokol number from year of the magazine 55.
