

ABSTRACT

This bachelor's thesis aims to translate the first chapter (Divorce) from the book Difficult Women: An Imperfect History of Feminism in 11 Fights by the British author and journalist Helen Lewis, published in 2020 by Jonathan Cape. The translation is followed by a commentary of the translation, which includes translation analysis of the original text, description of the method, typology of translation problems and their solutions and typology of translation shifts that occurred during the translation process.
