

The diploma thesis is focused on the development of reading literacy using RWCT methods in the 1st grade of primary schools. In the theoretical part we define basic concepts such as reading, reading literacy, RWCT methods and reading workshop. The aim of the thesis is to focus on RWCT methods - what the given method looks like, what advantages it has and examples of how to work with the method in the lesson. Next we deal with how to incorporate the methods into the preparations for reading lessons in the first grade. In the practical part we focus on model lessons with RWCT methods that I created and subsequently taught in reading lessons.
