

The thesis is focused on the psychosocial problems of patients with myasthenia gravis. Theoretical part of the work is focused on disease Myasthenia gravis, on process how the patients suffer crisis situation owing to rise disease. Psychosocial area at a suddenly incurred disease – myasthenia gravis. Thanks to the analysis of semi-structured dialogues with the neurologic intensive unit patients, how factors are help for their, how are they have relation at therapeutics and have they sufficiency information.