

Master's thesis deals with the research of the interaction of two consecutive – tandem shock waves focused into the common focus.

(...)

This work also deals with a comparative assessment of the effects of single and tandem shock waves acting in vitro. The reason is that these effects may occur both in the so-called shock waves extracorporeal lithotripsy (ESWL), as well as in other therapeutic methods.