

The thesis analyses and compares the brand management and communication strategy of the Skoda Auto brand and its sister brands within the Volkswagen company. It focuses mainly on the change that the Skoda brand went through and maps the strategy behind it from brand elements usage, brand personality, brand equity and brand building through marketing communication. The thesis uses the K. L. Keller Model to Better explain brand equity.