

The theme of my thesis Epidemiology of cervical cancer in us and the world I chose based on his belief that recognition Human papillomavirus as causative agents of cervical cancer and develop a effective vaccines for its prevention is one of the greatest achievements of medical research all time.