

Abstract

ŘEHÁKOVÁ, Radka. A Personal Assistance for People with Mental Disorder in Chosen Areas. Praha: Philosophical Faculty, Charles University, 2012, 72 pp. Master's Thesis.

The diploma thesis attends to personal assistance for people with mental disorder. The thesis is divided on theoretic and experimental part.

The theoretic section describes people with mental disorder and summarises problems of personal assistance comprehensively. This part also gives an overview of contemporary services and trends in care for people with mental infliction in the Czech Republic.

The experimental section consists of two parts. The first part focuses on mapping and basic characteristics of organization offering personal assistance to people with mental disorderb in Královéhradecký region and Prague. The data found out in both regions are comapared to each other. The aim of the second part of the research is to learn information and attitude of users' parents to service provided in chosen regions.

Keywords: personal assistance, people with mental disorder, personal assistant, organization providing personal assistance, parents of users of personal assistance