

Abstract

The thesis summarizes the process of property law transfer. It compares the new legislation with the old one by stating what has been criticized in current legislation and explains how are these issues dealt with in the new legislation. The thesis contains of three main chapters. First chapter defines the nature of land law and explains it's significance. Second chapter focuses on legal title - the transfer of property rights. Third chapter is the largest and describes entry procedures and judicial review.