

This thesis sums up the education of voluntaries at Hospic sv. Stepana in Litomerice. It creates the overall picture of trainings that are mandatory and supervisions that follows the voluntaries for the whole time of their activities with this organization. It as well describes the possibilities for every volunteer to educate above mandatory level – workshops, presentations, trainings and more. You will find here my findings based on questionnaire with volunteers and their opinions about education opportunities with this organization. The goal of this document is to show the importance of volunteer education in hospice organizations of Czech republic.