

Abstract

Rigorous work deals with description of problematics of social exclusion in relation to housing. First chapters derive mainly from literature and international documents. They are dealing with different views on the right to housing, social exclusion and socially excluded areas. There are also discussed basic legislation, in which are contained benefits for housing. These are Act no. 117/1995 Sb., of State Social Support (o státní sociální podpoře) and Act no. 111/2006 Sb., of assistance in material need (o pomoci v hmotné nouzi). The work also deals with social housing, that should be regulated by a special law soon. The last part draws mainly from own observations and from interviews with experts. There is outlined the situation in Chomutov and local ways of solving the problematics of housing of socially deprived people.
