

This work aims to explore the possibility of using the biblical book of Psalms in pastoral counseling. Doing so, it wants to be synthesis of the Church's tradition, from the beginning recognizing the healing potential of Psalms, a new perspective on the correlation of the Old Testament Exegesis science and experience, and some impulses from the theory of pastoral care.