

I have called the bachelor work "The Future of the Excluded Locality Janov". The aim of my work is to describe problems concerning the excluded locality Janov. Crime prevention is especially important with focus on children and teenagers. In my work I used the method of observation and interviews. I watched behavior of children during educational activities in low-threshold (social) facilities. Both methods enabled me to see insight into the excluded locality and I had the possibility of comparison with that what is written in scholarly books. My work consists of ten chapters, including introduction. The theoretical part is devoted to explaining the concepts of social exclusion. I describe Romany history and contemporary life of Romany families in Czech culture. I explain the concept of prevention and describe activities of the social center Jaklík. The practical part is a reflection of activity in the field of crime prevention in Janov. The evaluation is based on interviews. In the tenth chapter, entitled The Future of Excluded Locality Janov I focused on the possibilities that are available based on a summary of the information gathered. In my work, I worked with specialized literature focused on work with Romany youth, the community and the existence of the Romany in the Czech Republic.
