

This bachelor thesis titled “The role of non-profit institution social worker in attending of foster families” describes social worker operating procedure in attending of foster families. My writing is divided into five chapters. In the first chapter I presented basic terms which concern described theme: social work, social worker, non-profit institution worker (so called empowered person), foster parent, non-profit institution etc. Next chapter deals with the matter from the legislative point of view of both Czech and a foreign legal code. Particular ways of the foster care are described in the following chapter. The core and goal of this bachelor thesis is described in the fourth chapter “Cooperation an empowered person and a foster parent” and also in the fifth chapter “Selected methods and activities of a non-profit institution worker in attending of foster families”. Besides description of particular methods and activities of a non-profit institution social worker in attending of foster families, the final chapter describes a foster care performing agreement which lays the foundations for a non-profit institution social worker.
