

The subject of my thesis is feminism, on which several points of view are applied. Theoretical part deals with reasons and place of its appearing, evolution and consequences, which results from this trend of thought. Major part is concerning on feminism in territory of Czech republic. Hypothesies are improved in practical part, which come out from analysis of questionnaire. Questions are set in way to find out general knowledge about feminism and ability to reflect status of women and men.