

The aim of this work is to determine whether the mother are during her lifetime saving for their own security in retirement. For a better overview of their life course is used the concept of the life cycle. The concept helps to understand that careers of women-mothers is different than the one from other adults. The difference is in the nursing phases, which are interrupting her working career.