

This thesis deals with the last moravian superintendent of the Evangelical Church of the Helvetic Confession Dr. Theol. Ferdinand Císař. It depicts the situation of the Evangelical Church of the Helvetic Confession in Cisleithanien in his time and afterwards is devoted to his person. After finishing his vikariat in Vanovice he was elected a pastor in Nové Město na Moravě and later in Klobouky u Brna. He was elected a senior of the Western Part of the Moravian Superintendece and later its superintendent. His knowledge of languages was extraordinary for that time. He knew also a lot about the world political situation. He was well known not only in the european presbyterian churches. He was one of the publishers of the religious magazine called Hus.