

The comparison of the legal status of citizens, foreigners and asylum seekers in the Czech Republic - resume

This thesis deals with the legislation status of citizens, foreigners and asylum seekers in the Czech Republic and its comparison. Gradually defines the various concept, discusses the legal rules, Czech and international also, mentions the most important source of law, fundamental judicial decisions, the prospect of new regulations and the legal status of holders of various statuses. The final and the most important chapter identify the similarities and differences in the legal status of the most important, respectively most discussed areas.

The main objective is to streamline the often-fragmented provisions, define the individual terms and describe the most important similarities and differences in the legal status of citizens, foreigners and asylum seekers with an emphasis on Czech legislation.