

The aim of this work is to answer the question of the significance of the movement of the human body in the philosophical phenomenology of corporeality and phenomenology of religion and to evaluate theologically the gained arguments.