

The aim of this work is to show connection between basic catechetical knowledge about biblical education for children and adults and specific needs of both age groups; and at the same time provide a comparison of approaches to both groups.